AFTER EURASIAN SOIL CONGRESS 2018

Almaty, Kazakhstan

Preface

A big congress of the Federation of Eurasian Soil Science Societies between 17 and 19 October 2018 was held in Almaty with the attention of more than 150 soil scientists from different countries (Kazakhstan, Turkey, Turkey, Russia, Serbia, Germany, Uzbekistan, Iran, Czech Republic and others) all over the world. The first Congress of the Federation of Eurasian Soil Science Societies (FESSS) was taken place in Side Antalya-Turkey, 2014. The second congress of the FESSS was taken place in Sochi-Russia, 2018. After the Chairmanship of the Federation passed to Kazakhstan Soil Science Society in 2018, the Congress organized by the Federation of Eurasian Soil Science Societies, U.U.Uspanov Kazakh Research Institute of Soil Science & Agrochemistry and Soil Science Society of Kazakhstan, was called: "Environment and Soil Resources Conservation".

The congress had a scientific and organizational direction and was dedicated to scientific reports on the development of new approaches, methods and trends in soil science, soil contemporary issues and challenges faced by our science. When you look also to the scientific program of the Congress - you will realize that many of scientists, young colleagues made interesting presentations at this international event, participated in scientific tours and round tables. The level of the Congress has been very high. Take a look at the topic and the names of speakers in plenary section: Takashi KOSAKI reported the topic: "Need for enhancing collaboration between national/regional societies and IUSS to advance international decade of soils (IDS)", Evgeny SHEIN "Modern devices and methods for physical properties of soils investigations", Frank EULESTEIN "Visions and innovations for sustainable use of soils in Eurasia", Pavel KRASILNIKOV "Soil carbon sequestration and food sequestration and food security: Exclusive or complimentary approaches" and Ahmet MERMUT "Stable isotopes used in soil, ecology and environmental science".

All the participants of Congress noted a consistently high level, greater interest and willingness to share their views with new data and procedures for the meetings, excursions, during the discussion of papers for all 3 days of the Congress quickly passed. I'd add that the situation was extremely frank, friendly and joyful. The impression was created that met old friends who have not seen each other, and they have accumulated so many stories, stories and impressions that the time was not enough for communication. And so it was. At the end of the Congress, I caught myself on the fact that the appeal to the head of the Turkish delegation to Ridvan KIZILKAYA already in Kazakhstan, forgetting completely that he does not understand in Kazakhstan. But it is quite clear - we have become so close friends and colleagues frank, not more and more eager to discuss all scientific events with his colleagues. Good organization, friendly atmosphere, smiling friendly attitude of all the participants of the Congress was largely obliged to our young colleagues from the Kazakh Research Institute of Soil Science & Agrochemistry. Thanks you very much!
